Phyllis,

You filled a void when I needed one, and although it's difficult to list exactly what it was that helped me, I know attending the divorce recovery support groups did indeed assist the healing process. I thank you and Devah for all your kind words, helpful thoughts and insights, your sharing, your patience, and most importantly, the absence of a 'judgmental' atmosphere. You provided a safe space in which to talk and be heard during a difficult, vulnerable period in my life, one which I never ever expected to experience. Thanks so much for everything you've done.
